Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Dryness in Prayer Remember the first time you had to sit thru prayer without feeling God s presence. Maybe you, like myself, were expecting to go to prayer make a few acts of faith and know that God was going to show up and you d sense his presence. When we were surprised that God didn t make, his presence felt, something changed. We realized that God cannot be always making us feel good about our prayer. We waited and waited, but still nothing happened. We kept looking at our watch and every minute seemed to get longer and longer, until finally we finished the time we had committed to staying. On leaving prayer, maybe we began to question ourselves if we had done something wrong or failed to do something we were supposed to. This is a common problem in prayer. God makes the rules of our interior life and we have to learn to follow as best as we can. God is Mysterious (but loving) and we have to roll with the punches. God knows that we must all grow up and become mature. After all when we were kids our parents weaned us from our play pen, our toys, our little candies and favorite foods we always wanted. God sees us in a much deeper way. He sees the road ahead and knows what we need to persevere thru the race of following him. These times only test our love for God and others. We learn to see ourselves as mature Christians and come to know that we can still follow the Gospel and carry out our duties because we didn t experience feelings in...
